Correspondence American Economist. Washington, D. C, February 14, 1901. --Vigorous efforts are being put forth by the Republican leaders in the Senate to avert the necessity for a special session of Congress. The situation In respect to the Philippine Islands and what is expected to be the results of the adoption of the constitution for an independent government in Cuba are believed by President McKinley and his cabinet to make it absolutely necessary that a special session shall be called in the event of failure by Congress at this session to give the President authority to act in these matters independent of Congress. The impression prevails here that the Republican leaders, after consultation with the...
